Izzy Jones joined WGAP in 2026 as an operations intern. She is currently pursuing her Master's degree in Communication and Business Leadership at High Point University after earning her undergraduate degree in Sport Management. Izzy grew up in West Chester, Pennsylvania, and is a member at Radley Run Country Club, where she developed a love for golf through playing the game and being involved in junior golf programs. Through her academic and professional experiences, Izzy has developed a strong interest in sports marketing, event operations, and community engagement. She is excited for the opportunity to work with WGAP and contribute to an organization that is helping grow and support women's golf in such a meaningful way. Outside of work, Izzy enjoys traveling, being around family and friends, and staying involved in the game through sports and community.
